BUNK JOHNSON

Although Willie "Bunk" Johnson had been a musician in New Orleans and the South since the end of the nineteenth century, he made no records until 1942. Thus it is felt that a discography of Bunk Johnson belongs to Jorgen Grunnet Jepsen's Jazz Records, 1942-1965, which is where it will be found.

Gnt 5517

NOTE: Claxtonola as ALABAMA CREOLE BAND. The labels of Gennett 5517 states "formerly the Dixie Hod Carriers," but as far as is known, neither this small group from the California Ramblers nor any other was ever given this name. The issue also states "featuring Roll Williams," but there are no vocals or other special features on either side, so the point of this remains obscure.

ED KIRKEBY

Ed Kirkeby began managing dance bands and popular artists in 1916, and it is entirely due to his kindness and generosity that we are able to date exactly all the records by the California Ramblers, Little Ramblers, Goofus Five, Five Birmingham Babies, Vagabonds, and Varsity Eight, as well as by many blues singers and other recording artists. Many of his records were issued as by TED WALLACE or ED KIRKEBY WALLACE AND HIS ORCHESTRA / CAMPUS BOYS / SWING MUSIC, and those of interest as jazz or hot dance music will be found under such names. (The Goofus Five on Odeon 193248 and 193428, and "Ted Wallace" on Okeh 40788 and Par lophone E-5807 are all credited to ED KIRKEBY AND HIS ORCHESTRA). On March 2, 1931, a session for Banner remade under Ed Kirkeby's direction some sides made for this label under Ben Pollack's direction some days earlier; they were credited to Ben Pollack on issue, and bear the same matrix numbers as the originals. The Spanish Parlophone issue (B-25459) of the Goofus Five is credited to ED KIRKEBY Y SU ORQUESTA. Several sides appeared on various American and British labels as by ED LOYD (sometimes LLOYD) and his Orchestra, but those made under Ed Kirkeby's direction are not as a rule of great jazz interest, those that are will be found under the California Ramblers, Ted Wallace, the Goofus Five, etc.

BENNIE KRUEGER AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Although Bennie Krueger recorded with the Original Dixieland Jazz Band in 1920-1921, he had no pretensions to being a jazz saxophone player as the term is understood today. From the enormous number of sides he made between 1920 and 1934, the following are examples of how his own band could play hot dance music.

Bennie Krueger, cl, as, Cm, ts, dir: Hymie Farberman or Benny Bloom, t / Fred Schilling, tb / Perry Billitzer, as / Herman Kaplan or Ruby Greenberg, vn / Benny Altschuler, vc / Lester Morris or George LeClair, p / Harry Reser, bj / Dick Cherwin or John Helleberg, bb / Sid Reiss, d. NOTE: The Rex reissues make no mention of Quaglin's Quartet, and that of March 11, 1937, omits mention of the Lansdowne Quartet. Subsequent Rex records by Brian Lawrance, and the six titles made in 1934 by the Quaglin Quartet accompanying the Carlyle Cousins, are of little or no interest as jazz.

MAMIE LEE

MANDY LEE

Three different performers used this name on record. The Mandy Lee who recorded for Gennett in 1923 with Ladd's Black Aces, q.v., is not likely to have been the same as those listed below. Ladd's Black Aces were the Original Memphis Five, and their Mandy Lee sounds as if she was white also; it has been suggested as a pseudonym for Vaughn De Leath, based on aural evidence.

The following is not the same performer as the Mandy Lee on Banner and associated labels (see next titles), based on aural evidence:

Vocal, acc. by c / p. New York, c. July 12, 1926.

- 106990 Rounders Blues
PA 7509, Per 109
- 106991 Wandering Papa Blues

This following are not by the same performer as the Mandy Lee on Pathé (see previous titles), based on aural evidence:

At this point, Philip Lewis engaged the same musicians to make a series of records for export to German-speaking nations. This is confirmed by Sylvester Ahola's diary for 1929 and by entries in the Decca files, but the titles do not suggest (and Ahola could not recall that) anything recorded would be of the slightest interest to a jazz enthusiast.

As for October 1, 1929 above, but Joe Crossman, ts may, replace Helfer, and Bacon is definitely on d and vib. London, October 25, 1929.

At this point, the combined action of the Ministry of Labour and the Musicians' Union succeeded in preventing American musicians in London from making records with bands other than those in which they normally worked. The foregoing, while not of uniform standard, are a complete account of the band's output (excluding waltzes) to the time of the union ban. The following, produced thereafter, are known to be of interest, and there are probably others with short solos featured.

TED LEWIS AND HIS BAND

"The High-Hat Tragedian of Jazz" was not himself a jazz musician so much as a comedian bandleader. He did, however, employ front-rank jazz musicians from time to time, and to his credit, gave them quite long solo parts. Such recordings are listed below; see The American Dance Band Discography, 1917-1942 for Lewis' complete output.

SYD LIPTON

Sydney Lipton was director of dance music in London's Grosvenor House Hotel during the 1930s, and as might be expected, few records by his band are of interest as hot dance music. The titles listed below are exceptions to this, however.

THE NEW GROSVENOR HOUSE BAND, directed by SYDNEY LIPTON: Archie Craig and another, t / tb / Freddy

The Chicago Defender of July 3, 1926, refers to Virginia Liston's having recorded some unspecified titles for an unnamed company in Chicago, apparently during the preceding few weeks. The only known session near the date of this report is the following, usually shown as accompanied by Perry Bradford, p / Sam Speed, bj, and an unidentified trumpet; however, it is quite unlikely that either of these New York-based musicians are present.

JAMES MELTON

James Melton, once the alto sax soloist with Francis Craig's orchestra (q.v.), became an opera singer via dance-band and popular vocal records and films. The following are of slight interest for the accompaniments.

Vocal, acc. by Benny Goodman, cl / 3 vn / p / sb. New York, December 6, 1929.

149446-6 The Shepherd's Serenade
Col 2084-D, DO-46

Col 2065-D, 01875

149696-3 The Sacred Flame
Col 2084-D, Re G-20766

NOTE: Matrix 149446-6 is a remake of a master originally made on November 19, 1929. Benny Goodman is not in evidence on 149445-3 from that session, which was issued, and thus it is likely he took no part in it at all.

MEMPHIS JAZZERS

Most records issued on Grey Gull and associated labels under this name are of commercial dance music; details of the most interesting titles will be found under GREY GULL STUDIO BANDS. The following session, by an apparently black group, is quite exceptional.

Unknown t / cl / as / ? Porter Grainger (composer of all four titles recorded at this session), p / unknown v. New York, November, 1929.

NOTE: Grey Gull 1797 and 1816 as THE JAZZOPATORS; Van Dyke 71804 and 71805 as THE DIXIE DEVILS; 71816 as THE WHITE WAY PLAYERS; Metropole 1258 as BOHEMIAN DANCE BAND; Piccadilly as THE WHITE STAR SYNCOPATORS; Biltmore 1024 as KING OLIVER'S DIXIE DEVILS; Jazz Collector L-59 and both Tempo issues as KING OLIVER'S MEMPHIS JAZZERS. Many collectors, myself included, were once firmly of the opinion that King Oliver was on the session. Although Oliver's presence has since been ruled out, I still think of it as the nearest approach to his playing I have ever heard from another musician.

METROPOLITAN ORCHESTRA

This name was used for the earliest studio recording orchestra on disc records, first appearing on Emile Berliner's Gramophone discs in the late 1890s, then continued on Eldridge R. Johnson's Improved Gram-O-Phone records, and the earliest Victor records. The name was dropped in the summer of 1904, when an attempt at a stabilized personnel brought about the formation of the Victor Orchestra, q.v. The following issues are of interest as ragtime, played at the time it first gained popularity. Instrumentation does not seem to have varied much from session to session, though doubtless the musicians did. It consisted basically of 2 c / tb / cl / f / pic / vn / p / bb / d, with perhaps ah / th / bh on occasion.

NOTE: There is very little jazz to be heard on most of the above records, and they are listed more for the historical than for the musical interest. M. Robert Goffin, in his book La Nouvelle Histoire du Jazz, refers to four titles made by this band (BRIGHT EYES, PEACHES, WHEN BUDDHA SMILES, and YADA), but so far, no trace can be found of any other details. In the same book is a reference to a recording of Jean Cocteau reading his poem "Le Coq et L'Arlequin" on two sides of an otherwise unidentified record, accompanied by "Orchestre Dan Parrish."

Gnt unissued (destroyed May 31, 1927)
- 12467 Mr. Jelly Lord
Gnt 3259, Buddy 8004, Ch 15105

NOTE: This is Jelly Roll Morton's touring band, and probably the only example of a recording by a regular Morton organization, as distinct from a studio group. The Gennett files for December 1, 1925, list for matrix 12440 (also destroyed May 31, 1927) a test recording of MILENBERG JOYS by an unnamed artist, with the mysterious note "Re Re." This almost certainly means a subsequent rerecording of the title by the same artist, who is probably Jelly Roll Morton, with a band possibly including Punch Miller and Edwin Swayzee on cornets. Buddy 8004 as NEW ORLEANS RHYTHM KINGS.

Library of Congress series: Interviews with Alan Lomax, acc. by own p, with illustrative songs and piano solos. Coolidge Auditorium, Library of Congress, Washington, DC, May-December, 1938.

Lomax's original titles, as transcribed from the dust jackets by John Cowley, are shown following the original Library of Congress acetate number. The Circle records were retitled as shown in parentheses; all were dubbed from the original acetates at incorrect speed, and this error was repeated in most LP reissues dubbed from the Circle 78s. The series has since been speed-corrected and remastered in CD format. (†) denotes a recording originally marked by the LOC with a triangle, their indication that a performance was pornographic or otherwise unsuited for public access.

RAY NOBLE AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Ray Noble was director of the Gramophone Company's house band in London and Hayes, Middlesex, between July, 1929, and August, 1934. The following from his hundreds of sides are of some interest as jazz, and his subsequent American recordings that fall into the same category are included here also. Other records of jazz interest by Ray Noble, made anonymously as by the New Mayfair Dance Orchestra, will be found under that heading.

NOTE: Probably Oliver's greatest recording enigma, this session's roster has always appeared as unknown, except for Oliver himself. Data given by Fred Skerriitt and Clyde Bernhardt appear above (Bernhardt, incidentally, was supposed to be on the date but missed it). Sources and details (which are in agreement except for the identity of the pianist, whom Skerriitt did not remember) are from King Oliver, by Laurie Wright.

NOTE: On the original recording sheet, JOE OLIVER AND HIS ORCHESTRA has been crossed out and BINGIE MADISON AND HIS BROADWAY DANCE ORCHESTRA written in; a later corrected sheet credits CHOCOLATE DANDIES.

IN HARLEM'S ARABY, a non-Oliver item actually by the Memphis Jazzers, q.v., was issued on Biltmore 1024 as KING OLIVER AND HIS DIXIE DEVILS; and on Jazz Collector L-59 and Tempo R-27 as KING OLIVER'S MEMPHIS JAZZERS. Two other titles by the same band, MISS GOLDEN BROWN and EVERYBODY DANCE, were similarly credited on Tempo R-10. VJR 25 is credited to KING OLIVER AND CLARENCE WILLIAMS' BOYS, and Creole 6 to KING OLIVER WITH CLARENCE WILLIAMS' JUG BAND. See Clarence Williams for correct details of both these issues.

GEORGE OLSEN AND HIS MUSIC

The following titles by this band, one of the most popular in America between 1923 and 1934, are known to contain points of interest as jazz; others sometimes have short hot solos in the last chorus.

ORIGINAL CAPITOL ORCHESTRA

Not all of the Original Capitol Orchestra's records are of equal interest as jazz, but the best of them are musically very satisfactory and historically important, as they represent the only Mississippi riverboat band to play and record in England during the years covered by this book.

ORIGINAL DIXIELAND JAZZ BAND

Many anecdotal sources over the years have cited January 24, 1917, as the date of a Columbia test session by the Original Dixieland Jazz Band, the results of which were supposedly resurrected for a belated September release on Columbia A2297. However, no documentation of any such session has been found in Nick LaRocca's files or in the Columbia files, which logged the matrices used on that record on May 31, 1917 (q.v.).

PATHE DANCE ORCHESTRA

The Pathé house orchestra produced nothing to interest the jazz collector, but the following, issued under this name, is an exceptional ragtime performance and one of the earliest recordings of a "walking" bass. Aurally, it is not the house orchestra, but is thought to be a black band, possibly under the direction of Will Vodery.

New York, c. late 1914 - early 1915.

THE PICCADILLY PLAYERS

There were two groups of this name in the late 1920s. One was directed by Mel Morris (recording for Edison in New York), and the other a studio band directed by Al Starita for Columbia in London. The former features an excellent but unidentified trumpet on several sides; the latter sometimes offers solos by star musicians, as follows.

ALBERTA PRIME

The correct spelling of this artist's surname appears to be PRYME, q.v. It is not a pseudonym for Alberta Hunter, as has so often been incorrectly asserted.

PRINCE'S (MILITARY) BAND / ORCHESTRA

Charles A. Prince was the house director for Columbia in New York until late 1922. Records issued under his name amount to many hundreds, but the following are of considerable interest as contemporary accounts of ragtime music. Most issues except Columbia are anonymous or pseudonymous. See also COLUMBIA BAND / ORCHESTRA for earlier sessions directed by Prince.

The personnel is collective and approximate: Charles A. Prince, p dir: Bohumir Kryl, Vincent C. Buono, ___ Haines, c / Leo Zimmerman, tb / Thomas Hughes, cl / Marshall P. Lufsky, f / Charles D'Almaine, Walter Biederman, vn (on orchestra sessions) / ah / th / bb / Edward F. Rubsam, Howard Kopp, d, chimes.

RED HOT SYNCOPATORS

Pseudonym on Bell for the Original Indiana Five, q. v., and on Australian Regal G-20910 for the Lazy Levee Loungers, q. v.

THE RED HOTTERS

Pseudonym on acoustic Okeh/Parlophone for studio groups of no interest, and Silvertone 3526 and 3527 for Boyd Senter and the Chicago De Luxe Orchestra, q. v. Interestingly, a 1925 Silvertone sleeve advertises Silvertone 3560, with titles HOT MUSTARD and THIRD ALLEY BREAKDOWN under this pseudonym. These titles do appear on Silvertone 3548, bearing Jimmy O'Bryant's CLARINET GETAWAY and BACK ALLEY RUB, using the above pseudotitles, and the pseudonym THE HOT DOGS. Unless a copy of 3560 eventually appears, we must assume a communication breakdown occurred between production and marketing, an all-too-common phenomenon, even today.

HARRY RESER

Harry Reser was an American banjo/guitarist who made hundreds of comedic and "vo-de-o-do" sides, solo and with bands, for most of the recording companies in New York from 1921 to the 1950s. There is jazz among them, but the quantity of recordings is so great and the jazz content so varied, that they require a book to themselves. William W. Triggs has authored such a book; hence, a listing of band names commonly used by Harry Reser will suffice here. For a fuller listing of the pseudonyms used by Reser bands, see Pseudonyms on American Records, 1892-1942 (Mainspring Press). The following is a collective personnel for the Harry Reser bands listed below: Earl Oliver, Tommy Gott, Hymie Farberman, occasionally Red Nichols (c. 1925 only), t / Sam Lewis, tb / Larry Abbott, cl, as, comb / Norman Yorke, ts / Jimmy Johnston, bsx / Joe Venuti and/or Murray Kellner, vn / Bill Wirges, p / Harry Reser, bj, g / Joe Tarto, bb, when used / Tom Stacks d, v; sometimes other vocalists, occasionally other instrumentalists.

Bill Wirges and his Orchestra (q. v.)

NOTE: The names marked * were also used to cover other bands. Records by the Seven Wild Men and Bill Wirges and his Orchestra are included in this work as they are of somewhat less commercial or comedy-type material. The name of HARRY RESER'S DANCE ORCHESTRA on Imperial 1844 (I AIN'T GOT NOBODY) was used in error, or as a pseudonym, for the California Ramblers, q. v.

FRED RICH

Previous editions have included detailed listings of Fred Rich's various orchestras. On examination, however, most show only glimpses, if that, of jazz talent within the ranks. Thus, only those known to have quality hot solos are given here; see The American Dance Band Discography for a complete listing of Rich's extensive output. The collective personnel represents the musicians known or believed to have played with Fred Rich during the period concerned.

WILLARD ROBISON

The following sides from the considerable recorded repertoire of this American composer have points of interest as jazz. Willard Robison's Deep River Quintette was featured with the Chicago Loopers, q.v., one side being issued under his name, and this is almost certainly the session Robison recalled when he claimed to have employed Bix Beiderbecke, c, and Frank Trumbauer, Cm. Most of Robison's vocal records are beyond the scope of this work.

GENE RODEMICH AND HIS ORCHESTRA

This St. Louis orchestra was named by the late Frank Trumbauer as the one with which he made his first records, but nothing has so far been found to substantiate this. Similarly, the Mound City Blue Blowers are said to have appeared with this band, as they may have done on the stand, but not in the recording studio. The following records are of some interest as hot dance music, however.

Gene Rodemich, p, dir: Charles Werner, another, t / Larry Conley, tb / cl, ss, as / cl, as / cl, ts / Austin Wylie, 2nd p / bj / bb / Paul Spoerloder, d. New York, June 20, 1923.

14303-1 Many Moons Ago - vCB

Ban 32899, Mt M-12850, 91658, Or 2795, Per 15849, Ro 2168

NOTE: This session is entered in the ARC files as by ADRIAN ROLLINI AND HIS ORCHESTRA, yet all except Rex 8087 (as ED LLOYD AND HIS BAND) were issued as GENE KARDOS AND HIS ORCHESTRA. Adrian Rollini is readily identifiable on vibraphone, but the use of two trumpets and a brass bass suggests that at least some of Kardos' men were present, with Rollini merely sitting in as nominal leader.

As for October 23, 1933. New York, November 17, 1933.

VINCENT ROSE

This Californian bandleader and songwriter directed a number of sessions for Victor in the 1920s, of which the following have points of interest as jazz. Rose's ARC group of issues from 1930 to 1935 occasionally feature short solos of mild interest, but hitherto no positive identification has been made.

SAVOY ORPHEANS

The following sides by this famous Anglo-American dance band are known to contain points of interest as jazz, and doubtless others offer performances of similar standard. Titles issued on Dominion under this name are not only not by the Savoy Orpheans, but several of them are by the Grey Gull studio band, and of no known interest.

SAVOY QUARTET

This unit played with great success in the ballroom of the Savoy Hotel, London, from 1915 to 1920. In that period, it recorded a large number of sides for HMV, some being the first British recordings of accepted jazz standards. These are shown below as being of some historical interest, especially as the drum work is quite advanced for its time.

JOAN SAWYER'S PERSIAN GARDEN ORCHESTRA

Research by Tim Brooks has revealed that this was a black orchestra led by Dan Kildare, president of the Clef Club, and was employed by Joan Sawyer, a white dancer. JACK SHILKRET'S ORCHESTRA

Jack Shilkret, one of Nat Shilkret's brothers, recorded many sides for Victor in the 1920s and for ARC in the 1930s. The earlier records offer little to interest the jazz enthusiast, but the later issues were made by musicians drawn from the collective personnel shown, and often feature excellent solos, thus all the ARC sides are listed here.

NAT SHILKRET

Nathaniel "Nat" Shilkret was Victor's Director of Light Music between 1915 and 1945, and he also conducted various studio orchestras in recordings of serious works. Between 1926 and 1932, he directed dozens of sides as NAT SHILKRET AND THE VICTOR ORCHESTRA (the English HMV equivalents omit "Victor" from the artist credit), for which he drew on some of the finest talent in New York. The following feature soloists of considerable interest, in the identification of which I have had the incalculable assistance of Nat Shilkret himself, and also of Milt Rettenberg.

NAT SHILKRET AND THE VICTOR ORCHESTRA: Nat Shilkret (sometimes playing c / cl / p / cel) dir: Del Staigers, ? Earl Oliver, t / Chuck Campbell, Sam Lewis, tb / Larry Abbott, Sammy Feinsmith, Andy Sannella, cl, as / Max Farley or Maurice Pierce, cl, ts, f / Lou Raderman Murray Kellner, vn / Jack Shilkret, Milt Rettenberg, p / Dick Maffei or John Cali, bj / Jack Pierce, bb / Joe Green, d / Franklyn Baur, Lewis James, v. MAMIE SMITH

Vocal, acc. by own p. New York, January 10, 1920.

That Thing Called Love

Vic test (unnumbered)

Acc. by the Rega Orchestra (not so named on all editions): ? Ed Cox, t / ? Dope Andrews, tb / ? Ernest Elliott, cl, ts / ? Leroy Parker, vn / ? Willie "The Lion" Smith, p. New York, February 14, 1920.

7275-E That Thing Called Love
OK / Phonola 4113

7276-D You Can't Keep A Good Man Down
OK / Phonola 4113

NOTE: Although some sources give a personnel similar to that of the next session, the Rega Orchestra was a white studio group, and aural evidence strongly suggests it was indeed they who contributed the very conventional, non-jazz accompaniment on this date. The high take letters suggest that two sessions were used in recording these titles. The date shown is probably correct for the second of these; the first must have taken place between the Victor test date and this one.

Acc. by her Jazz Hounds: Johnny Dunn, c / Dope Andrews, tb / Ernest Elliott, cl / Leroy Parker, vn / ? Perry Bradford, p. New York, August 10, 1920.

70101-C Sax-O-Phoney Blues
OK 4416

70102-B Sweet Man O' Mine
OK 4511

NOTE: A photograph in The Talking Machine World for November 15, 1921, purports to show Mamie Smith recording SAX-O-PHONEY BLUES with a black group (t / cl / vn / p / d). However, as her accompanists on that title are white, and the instrumentation in the photograph does not match that on the record, it most likely was taken at a different session.

New York, August 23, 1921.

SOUSA'S BAND

The full strength of this famous concert band was 64 men, only a small proportion of which were employed on the following records. The personnel given is collective; most of the musicians appear in the contemporary Berliner and Victor catalogues as being "of Sousa's Band," so it is reasonable to assume they took part in the undermentioned sessions. John Philip Sousa himself did not participate in these recordings.

Collective personnel: Henry Higgins, c, dir: Walter B. Rogers, Rouss Millhouse, Herman Bellstedt, Herbert L. Clarke, John Fletcher (c. 1900-1902 only), c / Arthur Pryor, tb soloist and assistant conductor / ___ Lyon, ___ Williams, tb / A. P. Stengler, Louis H. Christie, cl / Darius Lyons, John S. C-1966-G Too Busy!
Br A-7792

NOTE: This is not the recording of TOO BUSY recalled by Rex Downing in the July-August, 1956, issue of Record Research, p.5, as being made by this orchestra, including himself on trombone and Bix Beiderbecke on cornet. Perhaps some unissued record was made under Charley Straight's direction during early July, 1928, when the Paul Whiteman Orchestra, with Bix, was playing an engagement in Chicago.

MARY STRAINE

Mary Straine's first known recording was an uncredited backing vocal as part of the "congregation" on Bert Williams' 1919 comic sketch, ELDER EATMORE'S SERMON ON GENEROSITY (Co A6141), of no jazz interest.

SAM THEARD

Most of this blues singer's records on Brunswick (1929-1931) and Decca (1934) are accompanied by pianists believed to be Cow Cow Davenport or H. Benton Overstreet; occasionally a guitar is added. Those given a jazz band accompaniment are listed below. A complete listing will be found in Blues and Gospel Records, 1890-1943.

Note: Okeh 40938 as RUSSELL GRAY AND HIS ORCHESTRA. This session has always been a puzzle for Beidebecke analysts. The cornet introduction and solo show a paucity of attack and a pedestrian execution unlike all other Beiderbecke recordings, which leads many to question his presence. Contemporaries Rank and Morehouse positively identified Beiderbecke not only as present, but as the soloist; heavily intoxicated, irritated at having been summoned from a bar for the date, and reading the notes, a triple handicap. Following the vocal, the cornet plays eight measures solo, eight over the ensemble. In the twelfth measure, a second cornet is distinctly audible playing a four-note fill, although Frank Trumbauer's ledger mentions no second cornetist. But someone else on the session had a horn in hand, putatively to stand in for the impaired confrère if necessary, which may or may not have happened. The four-note fill was presumably inserted by whoever was the non-featured player.

PAUL VAN LOAN AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Paul van Loan, one-time trombonist and arranger with Jean Goldkette's orchestra, made a number of titles with his own band for Cameo during the mid-1920s. The following are of some interest as hot dance music; the New York Clipper of February 22, 1924, gives the following personnel, which is probably the same as or very similar to the one used on the records:

Paul van Loan, tb, a, dir: Allen McAllister, George Hall, t / George Vaughn, Tom Kraus, Glen Wakeman, cl, ss, as, ts / Joe Cirina, p / Whitey Campbell, bj / Ed Grier, bb / George Sterinsky, d. New York, c. September 10, 1925.

1623-C Deep Elm (You Tell 'Em I'm Blue)

Cam 820

VICTOR (DANCE) ORCHESTRA

The first personnel shown for this orchestra is taken from a publicity sheet issued in 1905 by Victor. Victor's files do not list the personnel, but I do not believe it to have varied much during the following years. The titles listed are of considerable interest as contemporary accounts of ragtime; the earliest issues appeared simply as DANCE ORCHESTRA. (Note that the Victor files list no personnel, and usually no conductor, for these recordings.)

VICTOR VORZANGER AND HIS BROADWAY BAND

Among the number of sides recorded by this unit for Aco and Scala, the following are of unusual interest, in that they must rank as the first records to be issued by a racially mixed jazz band. (The cornet, trombone, and drums are played by black American musicians, the others being white Europeans). There may be other titles of equal merit as jazz, albeit somewhat crude.

Victor Vorzanger, vn, dir: "Horns-in-F" Warne, c / Ellis Jackson, tb, v / ___ Richardson, as / Horace Ainsley, p / Mark Sheridan, bj / Al Young, d, v. London, July, 1922.

TED WALLACE

This was one of the many pseudonyms used by Wallace T. "Ed" Kirkeby, manager of the California Ramblers, q.v. The Okehs listed under this name are of somewhat more interest generally as hot dance music (up to 1928) than the subsequent ARC and Columbia issues, which are therefore listed selectively.

TOM WALTHAM ET SES "AD-LIBS" (ORCHESTRE DE L'ERMITAGE)

Tom Waltham, an Englishman who lived most of his professional life in France, is claimed by some historians to have employed OJDB trombonist Emile Christian, and the following are listed here on the strength of that speculation. Subsequent issues that obviously do not include Christian, and novelty piano solos, are excluded as they have no jazz value.

NOTE: Although this session has been cited as taking place in Framingham, Massachusetts, that probably refers to the site of the Cameo Record Corporation's pressing plant, which also pressed Cameo's subsidiary Lincoln label; a studio is not known to have operated there. Despite the gaps in the matrix numbers (which are not in the standard Cameo matrix series for this time), Sylvester Ahola confirms all three sides were made on the same date, his first recording session.

NOTE: According to the RCA Victor files, the above titles were all made at two sessions on the same date, although there is not the slightest difference between the Bluebird and Victor issues of the same tunes. Perhaps they were recorded on two turntables simultaneously, and allocated differing matrix numbers merely to distinguish the masters intended for Victor from those intended for Bluebird. All except the Victor and HMV issues as GEORGIA WASHBOARD STOMPERS. (See Williams' Washboard Band for a further example of this curious numbering practice about the same time, and with a similar unit).

BRIAN WATT

Pseudonym on Ariel 4586 for Irving Kaufman, q.v.

LU WATTERS' YERBA BUENA JAZZ BAND

Although it may be argued that Lu Watters' records belong more properly to the era following the one covered by this book, in view of the fact they kindled the flame that burned as the popular "trad" revival of the 1950s, nevertheless five sessions by the band were recorded prior to the cut-off date of this work, and thus they are included here.

At this point, over several sessions between September 5 and October 5, 1928, Paul Whiteman and his Orchestra recorded the complete CONCERTO IN F for piano and orchestra, by George Gershwin, with Roy Bary as the soloist. Although the score provides for other soloists, including Bix Beiderbecke on side 4 briefly, there is no jazz music here.

JAY WILBUR AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Jay Wilbur (real name Wilbur Blanco), was musical director of Dominion Records from November, 1928, to June, 1930, at which date the firm went out of business and he took up a similar post with Crystalate Records, first on Imperial, and from September, 1933, on Rex. Of the enormous number of sides he recorded, the following are known to be of interest as hot dance music, and it is likely that there are others of equal or even superior merit.

Jay Wilbur dir: Max Goldberg and another, t / Ted Heath, tb / Laurie Payne or Jim Easton, as, bar / as / ts / vn / p / bj / bb / d / Les Allen, v. London, October 8, 1930.

NOTE: Eva Taylor's Southernaires, allegedly the same group as the above, made a test (TO-1301) of the last title on May 15, 1933, and it has been suggested that this date is the correct one for these three numbers, June 16, 1933 being regarded as a dubbing date. As the only issued title was itself a dubbing, in the absence of any original test pressings, such a theory should be regarded with some doubt.

HARRY A. YERKES

Yerkes, who first recorded in 1906 as a xylophone soloist, became a successful band contractor, and between 1917 and 1924 he booked many sessions on Columbia and other labels using the various groups under his management, sometimes with results of interest as ragtime or rudimentary hot dance music. Some of these appeared as The Happy Six (q.v.); the others known to come within this definition are listed below.

ZON-O-PHONE CONCERT BAND / ORCHESTRA

The house orchestra of the American Zon-O-Phone label (a subsidiary of Victor at the time of these recordings) made a large number of records between 1903 and 1912, of which the following are interesting ragtime performances. There may well be others similar, but the label is rather rare, having been discontinued by court order in 1912, and its files no longer exist. See also Fred Hager's Orchestra.

ARC	American Record Corporation (USA). Used only when the catalog numbers on the various labels—Banner, Melotone, Oriole, Perfect, and Romeo as a rule—are identical, or where the title is known or believed to have been unissued. Usually this number is in tripartite form, the first digit or digits denoting the year of issue, the second the month in that year, and the third the number of the record in that month's supplement. Thus, 6-04-09 is the eighth record in the release for April, 1936. "Race" issues begin each month at 51 (e.g., 6-04-58).
